

Section 1 Rivers of the Anthropocene

Section 2 Jason M. Kelly

Section 3 ¹IUPUI Arts & Humanities Institute.

Section 4 Rivers of the Anthropocene is a transdisciplinary project examining global river systems since 1750. Approaching rivers and their landscapes not simply as natural phenomena but as human-nature entanglements, an international network of researchers, policy makers, artists, teachers, and community organizations seek to create a new framework for understanding and addressing one of the most pressing ecological issues of the 21st century: water security.